

Criteria for Economic Epidemiology Follow-Up Project Funds

Additional funding is available for United States and African students who were associated with the Advanced Study Institute on Economic Epidemiology held at Makerere University in Kampala, Uganda, July 18 – August 5, 2009. This funding is meant to support projects that were a consequence of the students' participation in the Advanced Study Institute and workshop. Eligible students interested in developing projects catalyzed by the Advanced Study Institute and workshop are encouraged to submit a proposal to

Economic Epidemiology ASI/Workshop Projects
Attn: Dr. Gene Fiorini
DIMACS/CoRE Bldg/4th floor
Rutgers University
96 Frelinghuysen Rd.
Piscataway, NJ 08854

or electronically to gfiorini \(at\) dimacs.rutgers.edu

To be eligible for the additional funding, students must submit no later than March 1, 2010

1. A detailed final report on their previous ASI/Workshop research project that was worked on while at the ASI/Workshop.
2. Priority will be given to projects that involve both United States and African Students.
3. A Project Description that includes approximately one to two paragraphs each on:
 - a. Overview of the project,
 - b. How the project ties into previous work (from the ASI), if it does.
 - c. What the value added to the current literature is. (That is, place it within the context of current research.)
 - d. A description of methods & techniques that will be brought to bear on the problem.
 - e. A list of students involved in project along with a brief background for each student.
 - f. A list of faculty mentors involved in the project with brief background for each.

- g. A description of the likelihood of success.
- 4. A statement of commitment from faculty mentors involved with the project – no more than a page.
- 5. A detailed budget:
 - a. Maximum available funding is not to exceed $3600 per student.
 - b. Allowable expenses include: Travel costs for students incurred as a result of the project, costs incurred for faculty mentors involved with the project. Additional costs maybe considered on an individual basis.
 - c. This funding is available to U.S. and African students associated with the ASI.

Note: Canadian students who were associated with the ASI are not eligible to receive these funds. Canadian students must seek funds elsewhere.